A Sermon by Rev. R. S. MacArthur,
Preached at the Calvary Baptist Church,
New York.—A Strange Old Story—Our Christian Conflicts.

Taxt—And after him was Shamar, the son of Anith, which slew of the Philistines twelve thousand men in one day. And he was delivered Israel.—Judges iii. 31.

Thought to be presented this morning before us is a strange story, which goes to show that even the most courageous and valiant conquerors

are not always successful.

It is a story which shows us how God's people pro-
pered when they were right with God and how they were defeated when they were not.

ble tail is a pretty thing in its way and distinctly pretty in color, under the auspices of which we have this winter, two new fashions of exquisite quality. Canadian shades of convincing elegance and cheaper shades whose origin shall rest in obscurity.

But no one can complain that the choice as to first is restricted, for there are many fashions that each purchaser can select what suits best his taste and purse.

The mantle of elegance may fall upon your shoulders in a long Russian cloak of mink, navy, black or gray cloth, with hair at the collar of sable, black or maroon or Persian lamb. You may don the fashionable coat of lamb or seal skin, assured of a distinctly "chic" air in the new fall for every type of "chic" which are both stylish and comfortable.

It coats the glossy black Persian lamb is the most popular, for it is small and distinctly pretty in color, under the auspices of which we have this winter, two new fashions of convincing elegance and cheaper shades whose origin shall rest in obscurity.
